

Harmony Asian Growth Fund (Class E)

31 December 2024

This is a marketing communication for professional advisors only

Investment objective*

The portfolio will be biased to investments in markets of developed Asian and emerging Asian countries, but could also hold investments outside these countries.

The portfolio aims to provide capital growth but with a reduced level of volatility, via strategic exposures to a wide range of asset classes.

Manager commentary

- » In December, portfolio activity was elevated as interesting opportunities as well as new risks presented themselves.
- » Firstly, we were of the view that markets were underestimating the stickiness of inflation and both inflation expectations and bond yields were going to move higher in the coming weeks. So, within government bonds, we shifted some exposure from long duration bonds to the central part of the yield curve, lowering the average maturity of our bond allocation and being less exposed to the risk of rising bond yields.
- » Still within fixed income, we added to convertible bonds, a view that both us and our AI-driven allocation tool agreed on. Convertibles are an asset class we have been tactical about for a few years (last held during and after the COVID pandemic), and now they offer good diversification benefits thanks to their convexity (downside protection of a corporate bonds, upside potential of a stock), which comes useful in periods of volatile markets like today.
- » Within equities, we added a new manager, the Schroder Emerging Markets Value fund. Run by an experienced, focused and diverse duo of managers, this strategy aims to outperform markets by selecting stocks that trade at discount to intrinsic value and that can withstand period of volatility through decent cash generation. This new investment was financed by reducing existing managers, to form what we now think being a much better and stable blend of active strategies.
- » The net result, was a reduction in cash, which we had been holding onto in the previous months whilst waiting for the right opportunity to spend it.
