Manager commentary

- » In May, markets rallied as fears of a trade war receded, buoyed by positive AI developments. This "TACO" (Trump Always Chickens Out) theme saw US-China tariff de-escalation, boosting equities, particularly US tech giants like Nvidia. However, government debt sustainability concerns in the US, UK, and Japan pushed long-term bond yields to multi-year highs, causing bond markets to struggle. Central banks remain cautious on rate cuts amid resilient economies and persistent inflation. While short-term uncertainty lingers, the corporate sector's strength and the transformative potential of AI provide a more encouraging long-term outlook.
- » Against this backdrop, we implemented two tactical trades in the portfolio.
- » Firstly, in the second half of the month, we reduced some of the equity positions that we had increased allocation to in early April, in the depths of the tariff crash. We had let them successfully run overweight for 6 weeks, after which we thought it prudent to bank the profits and look at opportunities elsewhere.
- » Only a few days later, in fact, we invested in a 30-year inflation-protected US bond. With bond yields spiking and market sentiment probably excessively negative about US fixed income, we thought it prudent to take a contrarian view and took the opportunity to bring the portfolio's interest-rate sensitivity back in line with strategic levels, which increases yield generation and enhances protectiveness.
