■ Manager commentary

In November 2025, the Momentum GF Global Equity Fund gained 0.3% in US dollar terms, matching the MSCI World index, which also rose 0.3%.

The modest month-end return masked notable volatility: the MSCI World Index was down nearly 4% mid-month before rallying in the final week to finish slightly positive. The AI momentum trade paused, with the tech sector lagging and mixed performance among the "Magnificent Seven." Alphabet gained 13.9%, while Nvidia fell 12.6%, as Alphabet launched its Gemini 3 AI model and introduced its own Tensor Processing Units (TPUs), challenging Nvidia's dominance. Adding to negative sentiment, major shareholders Peter Thiel and SoftBank exited their Nvidia positions, citing uncertainty over long-term sustainability.

Healthcare had a strong month, rising over 8%, driven by several factors: a wave of prominent FDA approvals, heightened M&A activity, and Eli Lilly becoming the first pharmaceutical company to reach a $1 trillion market cap, supported by strong sales momentum for its weight-loss drugs. The portfolio is slightly overweight Healthcare, and stock selection outperformed the sector benchmark.

Japanese exposure also contributed positively, primarily through the Morant Wright Fuji Yield strategy, which outperformed by 5%. Value stocks in Japan continue to re-rate as companies increase dividends, buybacks, and return on equity.
